THE FORTNIGHTLY

Illuminating Address on Mexico by George Miner of Westfield

George Miner of Westfield an educator and lecturer, gave the Fortnightly an illuminating talk last Friday afternoon on "Mexico in Regard to Her Educational and Religious Interests."

Last summer he was one of 85 educators both men and women, of the Congregational Board who went to Mexico for study of the country. They heard lectures by the leading men of Mexico and held conferences.

He said in part "A nation which has a sense of humor has a future. Mexico has a sense of humor. The country is very unsettled, it is passing through a period of transition. Civil administration depends on the army. In some respects Mexico is like our own West fifty years ago where every man carried his pistols. There is the spirit of intolerance similar to the early years of our history."

"The future of a country depends upon great leaders. Mexico has some great leaders, men of distinguished ability. The Spanish armies have crushed the spirit of the people. Where men are of broken spirit progress is hopeless. Many Mexicans are of this type of people."

"One has said that one revolution follows another in Mexico; it is in a continuous state of revolution and a great deal of the controversy is between the government and the church. The types of priests who have worked among the Indians of Mexico are the finest of men. They have protested to Spain some of the unfair treatment."

"Spain has given to Mexico a beautiful language, beautiful monuments, a good government, a permanent civilization and religious institutions. Spain has also given Mexico a caste system, the Spanish, the mixed Spanish and Mexican and the Mexican. The result is a detestation of labor, the domination of men over women."

"Mexico has great difficulties on account of different races, there 150 different languages and dialects. In one city are 17 Indian tribes, each having a different dialect, no one understanding the others. Mexico lacks a strong middle class; the middle class is the producing class—but there is progress in Mexico, a new spirit is developing, with the young of the middle class."

"In Mexico 75 per cent of the people are illiterate and few of the others have education that counts."

"Another great problem in Mexico is the land. There are immense estates but the majority of the people are landless; it is like serfdom and a great menace to progress. If each man in Mexico could own land today most problems would be solved. One half of the people are Indians, 50 per cent are mixed and 10 per cent are Spanish; 80 per cent of these live as Indians."

"I attended many Sunday services. Few people were in attendance; there were no priests. The clergy will not sign the constitution and the government will let no one teach or preach unless they sign the constitution. The priests refused to this so many of the churches are closed."

"A fine type of our business men are there; they are establishing sound finance, the beginnings of education and the citizens are beginning to take responsibilities. Men like Fall, Sinclair and Doherty have played the very devil there."

"A new day is dawning for Mexico and it must come by training the child in new ideas of home, school, church and government. The people are profoundly grateful to Ambassador Morrow. In time Mexico will get used to new conditions and will provide a great deal of wealth and business. They are our neighbors."

Miss Harriet Kelley of Greenfield rendered a group of three songs, "Land of Sky Blue Waters" by Cadman; "Forgotten" by Cowles and "Enchanted Lake" by Barker. Miss Julia Alexander accompanied her on the piano. Mrs. C. H. Webster presided and three new members joined.

WILL YOU FIGHT THE EUROPEAN CORN BORER?

If so, either cut out this coupon, fill it in and mail it to us or send in your name and address as being for this fight, on a postal card or by letter. It is quite important that a goodly number publicly evidence their intention of working along these lines in order to get the thing put over in a big way; and unless it does go over in a big way, the fight for the stamping out of the European Corn Borer in Franklin County will be of scant avail. Every single name on record for this fight will be of great help. If YOU grow any corn, even if only a garden patch, we need YOU. And send along your name NOW.....TODAY.

"The Tri-State Weekly"
The Northfield Press,
Northfield, Mass.

The undersigned is in hearty sympathy with you in the fight against the European Corn Borer and will do his best along the lines indicated by the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

P. S. Why not get the signatures of some of your neighbors and friends and send them along at the same time that you send yours? The more names we can print at once, the easier it will be to get going quickly.

EXPORT DEBENTURES

An Excerpt from the Master's Address at National Grange

From the Master's Address before the National Grange Annual Session at Washington, D. C., on November 14, 1928, we take the following excerpt on the Export Debenture Program:

We must do for agriculture what we have been doing for industry. Manufacturing in bond, remitted tariff duties and certain branches of our live stock developed by years of experience, for the benefit of our commercial life. We now insist that the same principle be applied to agriculture. National welfare depends upon an adequate, reasonably priced and domestically produced food supply. This will mean occasional and sometimes periodical surpluses if the factor of safety is to be maintained. Crops like wheat, cotton and certain branches of our live stock must at the present time be kept upon a partial export basis. Just as the manufacturer cannot ship abroad goods manufactured in America when he has been compelled to pay a tariff on the raw material, unless he can get a drawback, so the farmer cannot manufacture wheat or other food product, having paid the tariff either directly or indirectly on the raw material utilized, unless he too can get tariff benefits through some similar method. The export debenture will help solve the surplus problem, is a necessary complement to the tariff structure, and without it or its equivalent, many branches of American agriculture cannot permanently prosper.

Joseph V. Tie

The body of Joseph V. Tie was brought here for funeral and burial last Saturday from Camden, N. J., accompanied by his widow, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andres Tie of New York and other relatives.

The funeral was held at the Congregational church at 1:30 o'clock conducted by Harmony lodge of Masons of which he was a member. Burial was in the Centre cemetery. He leaves five sons, the oldest 12 years.

Mr. Tie attended Mount Hermon school from 1897 to 1911. For several years he was employed as cook at The Northfield Hotel and for the summer conferences. The relatives were entertained at Kelavista Inn while here.

Sportsmen's Conference

Fishermen, hunters, trappers and all others interested in the outdoors are invited to attend the Annual Conference which will be held in the Auditorium at the State House, Boston, on Tuesday November 27. The conference will start promptly at 10 o'clock and will continue until five o'clock. I earnestly urge each association to send at least one representative. He should be a thorough-going sportsman or bird lover and a business man well qualified to give a report of the doings to his association as soon after the conference as possible. But we would like to have a large number of individuals and club representatives present.

Please broadcast the time and place of this meeting through your local press, notices to your members, and any other ways that may be available.

SARAH E. G. MINOT

One Who Was Loved By All Has Gone from Among Us

Miss Sarah E. G. Minot passed away on Monday afternoon in the home where she was born, June 10, 1857. She was the daughter of Mr. Rufus and Maria Antoinette Alexander Minot and on her mother's side descended from a long line of Northfield ancestry, several of whom were prominent in the history of the town. The Minot residence to which Rufus Minot brought his wife as a bride, is one of the fine old houses of Northfield.

Miss Minot enjoyed her many beautiful heirlooms and was always generous in loaning them. She was greatly interested in her home town and preserved and accumulated a store of periodicals, documents and letters which are now very valuable.

Miss Minot was a woman of strong convictions of ready wit, and sympathetic nature and her home was one of real hospitality. She was associated with the Unitarian church and active in its organizations until recent years when her health failed. She was a member of the Fortnightly for many years and later was elected an honorary member. She was also a valued member of the Historical society.

The funeral was held at her home on Thursday at 2 p. m. Rev. R. E. Griffith officiated and burial was in the Centre cemetery.

She leaves no immediate relatives. Cousins who survive her are Mrs. L. R. Smith of East Northfield, John Alexander of Norton, Miss Georgianna Alexander of Boston, William Alexander of New York, Fred Alexander of Newtonville, Miss Amy Alexander of Springfield and Jesse Minot of Red Bank N. J.

The body was taken to Springfield for cremation by request of the deceased.

THREE TERM SYSTEM

Mount Hermon to Return to Original Schedule in June

After the use of a three term system that kept the school in session for nearly eleven months of the year for the past twenty-eight years, Mount Hermon school will return to its original two term schedule with commencement in June according to an announcement made by Elliott Speer, president of the Northfield Schools.

It is expected that the earlier closing of the school will aid the students in obtaining better employment during the summer vacations to earn money for the following school terms. Dr. Henry F. Cutler, principal of Mount Hermon school stated. The new system which is to go into effect next year will also favor men taking College Entrance Board Examinations in June, who have in the past been forced to take the tests a month before the completion of their work for a Hermon diploma.

Founded in 1881 by D. L. Moody to aid young men of limited means in obtaining a first class education, Mt. Hermon school opened its forty-seventh year this fall with an enrollment of 508 students.

World Fellowship Institute

The Congregational church is organizing a World Fellowship Institute to be held on Sunday evenings beginning at 6:30 with a supper, songs and sociability. At 7 p. m. there will begin the departmental groups for junior young people, senior young people and adults. At 8 o'clock in the church audience room will be a general assembly.

Mrs. F. S. Merrifield and associates have charge of the first half hour. Mrs. Giebel and Mrs. Jones have the junior group Miss R. Poole and the adults. Mrs. A. G. Moody.

The younger group will study "Children of Other Lands", the senior group "Friends of Africa" and the adults "Our Church Projects." This is an opportunity to find out what our church is doing at home and abroad.

Sunday, Nov. 18 at 8 o'clock at the general assembly Prof. F. L. Duley will speak on "Famous Missionaries from Franklin County." Nov. 25, Rev. A. C. Hanna speaks on "Fourteen Years in Burma." Dec. 2 Mrs. Clifford Field will lecture on Indians with probably the best set of stereoscopic pictures of Indian life in the world. December 9 Rev. E. E. Jones speaks on China as to missionaries and the revolution there. Every one is invited to come and learn, and go and help.

Woman's Relief Corps

State Department Commander Mr. Foster was present and conducted a memorial service for the late James R. Hamilton.

Those who attended the meeting from here were Mrs. Krause, Mrs. E. M. Lazelle, Mrs. C. C. Stockbridge, Mrs. H. H. Chamberlain and Mrs. J. E. Nye.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and two children of Cambridge, Mass., spent from Friday to Monday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frary.

Mrs. M. T. Moore left the home of her daughter, Miss Bessie Moore of White Plains, N. Y., to visit her son and wife, Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Moore in Bethlehem Pa. She is rapidly regaining her strength from her recent operation at St. Luke's hospital.

ARMISTICE FETE

Aftermath of the Five Days of Unique Celebration

Major Wilder on behalf of the Exhibit Committee wishes to thank especially the officers of the First Army Corps Area, the State officers, Colonel Killheha, Major Kelly and Captains Anderson, Kilburn, and Waters for the loan of equipment, The Boys Brigade for digging the trench, Mrs. Wood for her beautiful Red Cross Booth, and Mr. Pitt for his realistic Y. M. C. A. hut, and all the citizens of Northfield who so generously loaned their precious relics, and gave of their scanty time. He adds:

"I should like to add a word for my comrades of the American Legion who have worked so hard to make this Exhibit a success. Here in Northfield is a body of men who have proved their patriotism and love of their fellow man beyond any question. They are young, energetic and trained to cooperate for a common purpose. They are affiliated with similar organizations throughout the country. It is their desire to serve their town as they have served their country. But war is not child's play. We who have been through the war are often irritable, impatient and outspoken. But, if the spirit of cooperation and friendship which has been shown during this Tenth Anniversary of the Armistice can be maintained for the future there is no limit to what Northfield can do in the way of community enterprise."

"This War Exhibit was designed to give the town and especially the younger people an idea of what the World War meant. This war which is only ten years past was one of the great events of history. And such an exhibit should help to make all history more vivid to the young."

"One gratifying result came out of this effort at cooperation. The spirit of friendship, mutual service for the common good, a putting aside of all petty disagreements that characterized our service in the war was revived. Old and young, rich and poor, veterans and clergymen, worked side by side to make the exhibit a success. No praise is too high for the wonderful spirit of mutual helpfulness for the public welfare that characterized this revival of the war memories."

"It might not be inappropriate, in view of the many questions asked at the Exhibit, to say a few words here in regard to the attitude of those of us who had the privilege of serving our country in battle during the war. It can sum up in one word—Service. We believe that a country worth dying for is worth living for. We want to make this the best possible country for our children to live in."

"There has been some talk of the best way to bring about lasting peace. This subject has been brought up continually during the Exhibit. We all want peace. No one wants another war. Those who have suffered most in this last are not the ones who want to see another. All that we do ask is that when the question of the best public conduct is under discussion our point of view shall be heard. We are not diplomats nor trained debaters. But we feel that we learned something from our service of the community without being accused of being bloodthirsty. We are not sentimental but we understand service. And we believe that service should begin at home."

The War Trench

Of all the varied exhibits of the Armistice celebration perhaps the War Trench was the most popular. Executed from plans drawn by Major Wilder with the actual digging largely accomplished by the Boys Brigade under supervision of Mr. Carr located in the rear of the town hall and illuminated at night, it was visited and inspected again and again by admiring throngs.

Fortunately Mr. Levering has perpetuated it in photographic form so that it may be enjoyed at all time but even these pictures, good as they are, cannot take the place of an actual seeing. The section was about sixty feet in length over all, with two gun emplacements two firing steps and a dug-out "Hotel Northfield" with connecting trench. Although perhaps only about half service size it gave a very excellent idea of many hundreds of miles of similar trenches that were "over there."

Closing Notes

It will be remembered that the Historical society has an article in the town warrant last February to raise and appropriate $100 for the expenses of the Armistice celebration. Taxpayers will be glad to know that the committee turned in bills, chiefly for transportation of speakers and the orchestra, and for publicity, amounting to only $97.98. Thanks are due the many volunteers who contributed their services.

The stated object of the celebration was to make World War ideals and activities real to the younger generations. Judging by the number of young people who were in the Exhibit at every open period, this object was attained.

Y. P. B. Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Young People's Branch of the W. C. T. U. at Notch Hill on Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. Refreshments and a good time for all.

Socony Aircraft Oil will keep that new motor quiet for thousands of extra miles. Free crank case service at The Morgan Garage.—Advt.

To the first half-million new Ford owners

To the half-million men and women who have received new Fords in the last eleven months, there is no need to dwell on the performance of the car.

You have tested its speed on the open road. In traffic you have noted its quick acceleration and the safety of its brakes. You know how it climbs the hills. On long trips and over rough stretches you have come to appreciate its easy-riding comfort. Continuous driving has proved its economy of operation and low cost of up-keep.

This is an invitation to you to take full advantage of the service facilities of the Ford dealer organization so that you may continue to enjoy many thousands of miles of carefree, economical motoring.

The point is this. You have a great car in the new Ford. It is simple in design, constructed of the best materials and machined with unusual accuracy. It is so well-made, in fact, that it requires surprisingly little attention. Yet that doesn't mean it should be neglected. Like every other fine piece of machinery, it will serve you better and longer if given proper care.

One of the best ways to do this is to take your car to the Ford dealer every 500 miles for oiling and greasing and a checking-up of the little things that have such a great bearing on long life and continuously good performance.

Such an inspection may mean a great deal to your car. To you it means thousands upon thousands of miles of motoring without a care—without ever lifting the hood.

Ford dealers everywhere have been specially trained and equipped to service the new Ford. You will find them prompt and reliable in their work, fair in their charges, and sincerely eager to help you get the greatest possible use from your car for the longest period at a minimum of trouble and expense. That is the true meaning of Ford Service.

KRAKLINS

We have been thinking what a whiz of a Diamond Dick story some of these western movies would make.

It is difficult to say who does the most mischief, enemies with the worst intentions or friends with the best.

The "buy at home" doctrine always sounds better from the lips of the fellow who is practicing it.

Have you ever heard this one? A freight agent received a shipment of goods amongst which was a donkey. The donkey was described on the freight bill as one burro. After checking his goods carefully, the agent made the following report: "Short, one bureau. Over, one jackass."

Some homes are decorated with bird cages. Other homes are bird cages decorated.

Gabs and Jabs

"I see this medicine is good for man or beast."
"Yes," said the druggist.
"Gimmee a bottle. I believe that is the right combination to help my husband."

A man accustomed to praising his wife went out of his way to call her an angel. "Mary," he said one morning, "you are an angel." And she felt charmed all day.

In the evening she ventured to ask him why she had been so honored. "Well," said the wily one, "you are always flitting about; you are always harping about things; and by your own account, you have nothing to wear!"

The paper punched out in making the perforations in large sheets of postage stamps as they are printed, amounts to six ton a month.

HALF MILLION PEOPLE AIDED BY RED CROSS IN HURRICANE RELIEF

Porto Rico and Florida Victims
Helped by Prompt Action;
$5,000,000 Given by Public.

One of the greatest disasters, in point of loss of life and devastation of homes, in which the American Red Cross has ever carried relief was the West Indies hurricane of September last, which swept across Porto Rico, parts of the Virgin Islands, the coast of Florida and north to end in torrential rains, flooding streams in a half dozen states. The known dead in all of the areas affected was 2,259, although it was admitted that the complete total of dead in Florida would never be known. The number of injured was estimated at 3,170. Approximately 20,000 buildings were destroyed and damaged.

At the height of the emergency the Red Cross was caring for 506,410 people—that is, feeding and clothing them and arranging for whatever shelter was obtainable. As long as three weeks after the hurricane struck Porto Rico and Florida, the Red Cross was aiding 20,236 people who were sick, of these 236 in Florida and the remainder in Porto Rico, where influenza and malaria were being treated to prevent epidemics of more drastic diseases. Large numbers of Red Cross nurses were active at both.

More than 11,000 persons applied to Red Cross for assistance, and a great number of people in Florida and also in Porto Rico still were being cared for in the matter of food, clothing and shelter as long as two months after the hurricane, while they awaited maturing crops which would enable them to again become self sustaining.

For this relief task, the American public gave the American Red Cross a fund of $5,000,000—the sum set forth in a proclamation issued by President Coolidge a few days after news of the hurricane was received.

The relief given by the Red Cross in this great emergency, spread over such a wide territory of sea and land, was everywhere commended and especial emphasis was placed upon the promptitude with which the organization responded. The hurricane struck Porto Rico September 13, and the first brief cabled word of it came September 14, to both Red Cross and the news agencies. Before nightfall, the national director of disaster relief for the Red Cross and a staff of four trained men had left Washington for Charleston, South Carolina, to board a navy destroyer which upon instruction of the President of the United States had been placed at command of the Red Cross by the Secretary of the Navy. And although the next day was Sunday, a Red Cross man arrived in New York to purchase a thousand tons of food for the Porto Ricans, already reported to be starving, and the Navy again placed a ship for the cargo at Red Cross command.

Late on Saturday evening there came another cable—a Red Cross nurse at St. Croix, in the Virgin Islands, addressed a plea to the mother organization in Washington and gave first warning of the plight of the people of the American possession, where no

OUR MAIN INDUSTRY

Recreational Business $300,000,000 Annually in New England

"The recreational business is an industry of the first order, desiring and demanding attention 52 weeks of the year," declared Arthur G. Staples, editor of the Lewiston, Maine, Evening Journal, speaking at the Recreational Group Meeting of the New England Conference convened by the New England Council.

Mr. Staples took for his general topic "The Value of the Recreational Industry to New England," and estimated its worth at more than $300,000,000 annually. He then quoted statistics to show that of the money brought in by the recreational industry, 15 per cent goes to restaurants; 23.5 per cent to retail stores; 21 per cent to hotels; 16 per cent to manufacturers and wholesalers; 9.5 per cent to theaters; and 15 per cent to banking and other miscellaneous activities.

Comparing the recreational industry in California with that of Maine, Mr. Staples said that since Southern California began advertising in a mild degree 20 years ago, the valuation of that region has increased from 1100 millions to 3,200 millions.

RECORDER SOLD

Greenfield Paper Bought By a Group of Newspapermen

It is announced that the Greenfield Recorder, established as a weekly newspaper in 1900 and published as a daily newspaper since 1920, has been sold by John W. Haigis, the publisher.

The new owners, who are to take possession December 1st are the following New England newspaper men: Howard C. Rice, publisher of the Brattleboro Reformer; Hazen E. Stockwell, associated with the Reformer; Ephraim H. Crane, principal owner of the Vermont Printing Co. of Brattleboro; Paul Belknap, associated with his father, Willis W. Belknap in the ownership of the Bellows Falls Times and other Vermont newspapers; and Henry C. Conlon, who owns a large interest in the Hartford (Ct.) Courant. It is said that Mr. Belknap will become publisher of the Recorder and make his home in Greenfield.

Mr. Haigis is leaving the publishing field because of other interests. He is president of the Franklin County Trust Co. of Greenfield and last week was elected state treasurer of Massachusetts.

Radio Forum

Plans and schedule for the regular winter radio forum of the Massachusetts Agricultural college over Westinghouse stations WBZ and WBAA are practically complete, the time allotted to the farm this year being Mondays at 12.30 p. m.

George L. Farley, state leader of 4-H club work in Massachusetts, will open the forum on Monday, November 19. The forum this year will be in the form of a dialogue, the plan being to have a home maker a farmer, or some other person appear at the studio and ask the speaker from the college questions which will be answered expertly. The two weeks following Mr. Farley will be in charge of H. B. Howe, extension specialist in agricultural economics, and Mrs. A. T. Herr, state home demonstration leader of the extension service.

family in a population of 11,000 had escaped injury.

In the meantime the Red Cross had notified its Florida Chapters that it stood ready for any service, in event the hurricane, headed toward them, did any damage. Not content with this, the Red Cross on Sunday night entrained a disaster relief director and six workers for Florida.

Money, food, clothing were dispatched immediately to both points, and before the end of the week the Red Cross was feeding a half million people.

This prompt response was made possible by the disaster relief organization the Red Cross has brought together and trained through a series of such national calamities.

Support of this work is through the annual Roll Call for memberships. The goal in the twelfth annual Roll Call to be held Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 29, is 5,000,000 members.

Fifty nations by the Red Cross flag for all it carries the symbolic meaning of help in time of distress; of health preservation; disease prevention, and international co-operation in humane effort, which recognizes no frontier, no difference in language, but only merciful help for all men.

Last year, without an exception, this Special Christmas Issue proved itself a Very Profitable Medium for Advertisers, and this year, without advance in rate and with our increased paid-in-advance and general circulation, it will undoubtedly be even more so.

We can assist materially, if you so wish, in supplying attractive and suitable illustrations, as well as in the preparation of the copy for your announcements. Don't hesitate to call upon us, without feeling under any obligations. If we do not feel that your announcement or copy is going to prove profitable in this Special Issue, we will tell you so. While we cannot, of course, guarantee you a profit from advertising with us, we do not accept business that, in our judgment, is not going to prove profitable to us both.

For the Guest Room

They are just too lovely for words, referring to the rose-decorated boudoir sets made all of organdie. For an inexpensive Christmas gift there's nothing prettier. The wide organdie bands are to hold dainty curtains in place. The case which is a square of organdie folded to the center where it is caught with a rose, contains wisps of cotton with which the guest may "powder her nose."

"Antique Maple New Decorative Vogue"

Ability of Modern Workmen to Reproduce Tone Formerly Obtained from Aging gives Popularity to Native Hardwood.

ONE of the reasons given by consumers for the marked impetus recently noted for maple has been the ability of the modern workman to reproduce in the antique finish the mellowness and depth of the maple coloring which formerly was obtained only by the long process of aging.

Old maple furniture, the work of the early cabinet makers, is valued highly on the antique market. At a recent sale at Doylestown, Pa., a curly maple highboy from the Old Fountain Inn commanded at auction the price of $4,200. This particular maple piece, had unusual worth because it was an exceptional example of pre-Revolutionary workmanship, and as such had been exhibited at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia. At a much lower figure, however, there has been a constant demand for maple antiques.

Aging gives maple a rich patine and deepens its color from the original lightness to a more rosy tone. New furniture maple has had wider adoption in the last few years because of the possibility of obtaining more quickly this same tone. Its present day popularity results from the decorative practice of using small or supplementary pieces of furniture in lighter colors to obtain pleasing contrasts and to relieve the room of heaviness and darkness. New maple also has been adopted for pieces of furniture that are not obtainable in the antique, such as the radio receiving cabinet, a development of the last decade.

One of the problems of radio cabinet design has been to develop a supplementary piece of furniture that would fit into the average living room and that would harmonize also with early American interiors. Maple has been used as a solution for this problem, and the antique finish, deepening the natural wood tone, has been found to harmonize ideally with antiques. Maple has appeared prominently also in the new style or futuristic furniture. In many new homes maple rooms are being furnished. Frequently maple is used for the guest room.

Jane—There's one thing I don't like about Joe, his English is bad. Joan—Yes, and is Scotch is terrible.

WARNING TO MEDDLERS

EXPORT DEBENTURES

It is not possible for a little publication like ours to give much space to national issues. There are national publications to attend to such matters. But now and then there are national things that we feel it our duty to boost all we can, especially where we believe they are vitally important for the constituency we serve. Such a thing is the Export Debenture idea, now slowly but surely coming to the front, as the one panacea for the benefit of the down-trodden agriculturist. This of course is being fathered by the Grange and during the past year or more we have given both the idea and the Grange point of view on the matter, all the publicity we could and expect to continue doing so. Strange to relate most of the opposition to the idea comes from the farmers themselves who call it a "subsidy" and state that they do not want to be so subsidized. In the current issue of the National Grange Monthly there is a short article by Prof. C. L. Stewart, well known tariff authority, who states that subsidies involve both appropriations and special taxes, or by even the most liberal extension countenanced by sound usage, involve at least appropriations. The Professor then goes on to show that Export Debentures are not subsidies for at least five reasons. And then he sums up the whole matter in the statement that "if export debentures are to be included as subsidies, there is no way to prevent highly protective tariffs, free trade, reciprocity, tax exemptions, allowances for dependents tax graduations and reductions from being likewise included. Such a procedure would be ridiculous." No the Export Debenture idea is not a subsidy but it is a complement of the tariff and, we believe, with others, that it is essential if the farmer is ever to enjoy an equality in the working of our general tariff system.

A Little Country Paper

By Clara McCreery

I get a little paper from a little country town—
A far cry from the dailies, that on Sundays weigh us down;
It's printed every Friday, and it has no supplement,
Nor colored rotogravure, but I'm always glad it's sent.

It gives no clever verses by the syndicated bards,
But states that Mrs. Williams entertained some friends at cards.
"Ye scribe" saw Judge McArthur shaking hands with friends to-day.
It says the Curtis family sold out and moved away.

On Boulder Dam it's silent, and there's nothing on finance—
It tells that the Rebekahs gave an installation dance.
That Miss Day is returning soon to open up her school,
That Alexander Hargrave lost a valuable mule.

It's glad that Jimmy Gallagher can be around again.
It claims that the alfalfa crop is much in need of rain;
The supervisors voted for the road work to commence;
Will Anderson hauled lumber for his new garage and fence.

The worldly ones may smile at it, but theirs are tender smiles—
These home town items form a bond through many years and miles.

Oh, little country paper, with your little weekly talks!
I like to wander with you down remembered roads and walks.

Orange

An airplane from Keene, N. H., airport which was "strolling about" Friday morning, landed on the large field near Fernwood farm in the north part of the town. Spark plug trouble forced the plane down and when repairs were made returned to Keene. The operator was enthusiastic about the North Main street field for airplane use, stressing in particular the natural slope
which made the landing and hop-off comparatively easy.

There was an interesting meeting of the Orange Woman's club last week when John Claire Minot spoke on

Mrs. Frank Ross of Northfield, spent Sunday in town.

Charles Welch, an aged Civil War veteran, rode up to the hall and voted for Hoover. Mr. Welch is a staunch Republican having voted for Lincoln and for every president since and says
he hopes to be here to vote from years hence.

An unusual circumstance was that of three generations going to town meeting, W. A. Alexander, his son, Dr.
K. L. Alexander and Master Scott Alexander. Master Scott is evidently being trained in good citizenship.

The meek may inherit the earth, but just now most of it is in the possession of those who do not even know the meaning of the word.

Those Merchants in the Towns Where We Circulate Who Are Not Advertising in This Issue Are Missing Something:

The Saturday Evening Post is filled with advertising from cover to cover. It is said that this paper never solicits advertising and it is necessary to reserve space three months in advance.

The reason is that firms whose advertisements appear in the Post week after week have found that advertising increases their business, creates new markets and new users
for their products.

They have proven to their satisfaction that advertising sells.
Good advertising, carefully written, will sell goods in our Circle Section.

No issue of "The Tri-State Weekly", The Northfield Press should go out without some kind of an advertisement from every merchant of the Circle Section.

Think it over.

Edmund Wojtkoski

Edmund Wojtkoski, 10, son of Mr.
and Mrs. Frank Wojtkoski of the River road was accidentally shot by his older brother while hunting late Saturday forenoon and passed away at the Farren Memorial hospital at Montague City early Saturday evening as the result of his wounds.

The boys were out hunting squirrels about a quarter of a mile from their home and the older brother took a shot at a squirrel in a tree. The squirrel dropped to a lower limb and the young man took another shot at the animal, not noting that his younger brother had stepped in front of him.
The second shot was fired and entered the right side of the neck of young Edmund.

He was assisted home by his brother and Dr. William J. Madsen was called who ordered the injured chap rushed to the hospital for an X-ray. On account of profuse hemorrhages an operation was deemed advisable by the doctor, from which the young man never rallied, passing away early in the evening.

He is survived by his father and mother and four brothers, Bolac, Joseph, Frank Jr. and Walter, three sisters, Wanda, Mary and Nellie. The funeral was held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. John's church with Rev. Fr. P. E. Carey officiating. Burial was in the Polish cemetery at Turners Falls. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved family.

last Friday in honor of his birthday,

this town.

After witnessing the large turnout
last Sunday at the Armistice Day celebration when a number were turned away on account of no room, the thought has been expressed that Millers Falls certainly needs a community hall large enough to seat the majority of the population of the village. Red Men's hall is the largest in town but the seating capacity is limited and any affair by the whole village calls for a record attendance. This is a thought worthy of someone's consideration and perhaps in the near future this may be accomplished.

Eli T. Dickinson

The many friends of Eli T. Dickinson of North Park street will learn with sorrow of his death on Wednesday afternoon at the Farren Memorial hospital at Montague City.

Mr. Dickinson or "Tony" as everyone in the village called him was a man of sterling qualities, a quiet disposition,
a good citizen and a kindly neighbor,
and his sudden illness and death was a great shock to many. The cause of his death was septic poisoning.

Mr. Dickinson was born in Torrington, Conn., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickinson and came to Millers Falls with his parents when a child. He attended the public schools in this town and on November 16, 1912, he married Miss Margaret Kerrett of White Plains, N. Y., and brought his bride to Millers Falls where they have since resided. Mr. Dickinson was employed as a tool maker at the plant of the Millers Falls Co.

He is survived by his wife, one sister, Mrs. Leon Ellis of this town and three brothers, Albert of Hartford, Conn., Charles of Bristol Conn., and

day of this week Herbert J. Leland

Poor Bus Service

Attention has been called to the rather poor bus service between this town and Greenfield. The last bus leaves Greenfield at 6 p. m. which does not give anyone a chance who desires to spend the evening in the "shire city." Also the people are kicking about the seating facilities. The bus will only seat 27 people, yet on the 7:30 trip in the morning there are over 40 people making the trip. It is understood that this matter has been brought to the attention of the Millers Falls Board of Trade who no doubt will in the very near future see if the existing conditions can be remedied.

Armistice Day Celebration

The "Belado-Crowley post of the American Legion should be complimented upon the fine exercises held last Sunday in Red Men's hall commemorating Armistice Day. The attendance was a record breaker. The stage was very tastefully decorated for the occasion.

Commander R. J. Collins was the master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers. Seated upon the stage were the orchestra and the quartette;
Rev. P. E. Carey, Rev. Charles G.
White, Rev. L. A. Rys, President Walter Koepke of the St. Stanislaus society, President Vincent Siemiatkowski of the Polish Citizens club, Henry J. Morrisey representing the Village Improvement association, President Abram Roseberry of the Millers Falls Board of Trade, Sachem Patrick T. McHugh of

ident Annie Marvel of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Edgar Daighnault, scoutmaster of the Boy Scout troop, No. 1, Sergt. Warren R. Prouty, who was decorated by the French government with the Croix de Guerre, Commander
R. J. Collins and Vice-Commander

"The King of Kings"

Tonight and tomorrow evening, one of the largest and most expensive pictures that was ever produced will be shown at the Red Men's hall and is entitled "The King of Kings." This picture has been endorsed by the clergy
all over the country and is one that every person should make an extra effort to witness. See the advt. on this page. The management of this theater invites the various clergy in Millers Falls, Montague, Farley, Erving and Northfield to attend one of these performances as their guests.

A school of religious instruction for the North Franklin District was held in dean of the school.

last week is one of the last of the pioneer settlers in Millers Falls.

meeting of the Millers Falls Board of Trade which falls on Thanksgiving night has been changed and the new date will appear in next week's issue of this paper.

Red Cross Roll Call

The American Red Cross began its 12th roll call for membership on Monday last. John W. Haigis, general chairman for Franklin county, has appealed for the cooperation of all citizens. The response to his call should be generous. Franklin county has always been foremost in its support of the Red Cross. No part of the state has been more generous or helpful.
Therefore, the response of this year
should be greater than ever before.
We hope that Millers Falls will make its usual record this year of being 100% over the top. There is an opportunity here for lots of new members. Let all join in making this year's roll call the greatest and most successful of any previous years. The Red Cross deserves enthusiastic support of every citizen.

Mrs. Micheline Gads, accompanied by her two children, Charles and Josephine of Hudson, Mass., were over Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kosevich of South Prospect street.

John P. Egan of New street has made his usual proclamation in regards to the number of snow storms that we are to have this winter and he has set the number to an even 40.

Damon T. Greenwood of Main street was suddenly called to Northampton
last Saturday on account of the death of his brother, Peter Greenwood of that city, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident the day before.

The police department of Greenfield have received notice of the loss of a Pontiac car, the property of Victor L.
Ward of Millers Falls, which was stolen
in Greenfield on Saturday evening.

The Things in Nature That Thrill Me Most

(By J. A. Taggart)

I have stood on the summit of high mountains and gazed with kindling eyes over the handwork of nature's Supreme architect.

I have viewed old ocean in all its moods.

I have gloried in storms where Jove's thunderbolts were hurled with awe inspiring effect, and angry clouds with quick changing formations swirled with ominous portent.

I have watched a summer dawn unfold from the fading of the morning star, to the full glory of the rising sun.
All these have thrilled, but a greater thrill has been mine as I have gazed into the Heavens on a star-lit night and tried to realize something of the immensity of the universe.

I have made no intensive study of astronomy, but even the layman is aware that the moon is some two hundred and forty thousand miles distant from our planet; that the sun is approximately ninety-three millions of miles distant, and that many of the well known stars are much farther away.

I have been taught that the star Betelgeuse is hundreds of times larger than our sun, and is so far distant from the earth as to stagger ones imagination.

The latest telescopes reveal countless unnamed stars in the so-called spiral nebulae which they have brought to view.

I am aware that all those countless suns and stars move in fixed orbits,
also that those mysterious Heavenly wanderers, the comets, pursue a fixed course with calculated regularity.

I am aware that light travels 186,000 miles per second, and that even at that speed it requires thousands of years for light to reach the earth from the farthest of the heavenly bodies yet discovered by man.

I believe the assertion of eminent astronomers that it is fair to assume that beyond the ken of the most powerful telescopes, unlimited space exists where other stars are present, all of them pursuing regular orbits.

I try to realize the immensity of the universe, and am lost.

I feel the sensations mentioned in Webster's definition of the word thrill.

I feel more than is specified there.

I see God, and feel His presence nearer than ever before.

In spirit I am lifted far above the earth.

I am thrilled beyond words to express.

Ladies Aid Society

The Ladies' Aid society will serve a supper in the church vestry Friday eve-

Thanksgiving Party

A very successful and pleasant evening was spent by those who attended the Thanksgiving party at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Dean E. Holt last Saturday evening. There were over 50 present including people from Wendell Town, Farley and of course the townspeople.

Stunts and games of various kinds were enjoyed by old and young. The rooms were tastefully decorated with things suggestive of the Thanksgiving season.

Refreshments of the season were also served and enjoyed by all. Numbers on a big "chocolate" turkey were given to all, then a sealed packet tied to the turkey was opened and proved to hold the number "23." Mrs. Florence Rankin held the lucky number and was presented with the turkey.
The party broke up at a late hour,
every one declaring they had a most enjoyable time.

comed a daughter to their home last

Many people from here attended the rade. They were also much interested in the flying which took place on the Robnuta road flying field under the direction of the American Legion. Two planes were busy taking up passengers

the bigger part of the day. As a finale a young fellow jumped from one of the planes and landed safely on the field
his parachute opening beautifully.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dale and little daughter Lorraine of Greenfield spent the week-end and holiday with Mrs.
Dale's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon

congratulated upon the birth of a baby

can candidates for office liberal support. In the Millers Falls precinct 301 voters in a registration of 315 cast their ballots and in the Erving precinct 212 votes were cast from a total registration of 235.

A party from here attended the Ladies' Aid sale and supper at Farley last week Thursday evening. They reported an excellent supper and sale.
Joseph Kilnwood and family left
last Saturday for Daytona Beach, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

church next Sunday at the usual

Colrain

An Unavoidable Accident

Coming from school on Wednesday afternoon, Walter Upton, six year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Upton of Adamsville was struck by a car driven by Lloyd Brown. Mr. Brown came to a slight elevation in the road, over which he was not able to see, and although he was not driving fast, nor did he hesitate in applying his breaks he was unable to avoid striking the child who was not visible till the last moment. Walter was walking in the middle of the road. He sustained a broken arm, possible fractured skull as well as minor cuts and bruises. His condition is said to be favorable.

From where comes that magnetic power which makes the middle rather than the sides of a road so fascinating a place for children to play or walk in? Surely it cannot all be the lure of that which is dangerous because many children cannot appreciate its danger on account of their tender ages. The number of yearly accidents resembling this is astounding.

An Expensive Fire

COOLIDGE to ALFONSO

"I believe it to be true that when two men can talk together the danger of any serious disagreement is immeasurably lessened and that what is true of individuals is true of nations. The international telephone, therefore, which carries the warmth and the friendliness of the human voice, will always correct what might be misinterpreted in the written word."

President Coolidge to King Alfonso of Spain at the opening of trans-Atlantic telephone service between Madrid and the United States, October 13, 1928.

True of nations. True of individuals. True of your business, and of you.

In a letter (which comes cold to your correspondent) it's not always easy exactly to express your meaning, be it ever so clear to you as you write.

Talk will do it—two-way talk. Face-to-face or by telephone, talk makes every shade of meaning clear.

Prove it to yourself

Test it with that distant customer. Put into your telephone selling the warmth and friendliness of your personality. It will register.

It Will Pay YOU

to have a Standing Card in

This SHOPPING DIRECTORY

so that YOUR NAME and BUSINESS will be printed each and every week; and then, when the occasions warrant you can do Special Advertising elsewhere in the paper, so as to steadily build up and develop your business. This standing card in the Directory is just what it is called and is valuable in itself, but it is not Advertising, in the real meaning of the word.

Moreover, we do not accept any larger space for it than two inches; nor do we accept it from any advertiser who is not personally known to us.

The cost is $3.00 per inch for three months (13 insertions) payable quarterly; $6.00 for two inch space for three months (13 insertions) payable quarterly.

It is a mighty good opportunity for the ones who can qualify at this time to get some systematic and economical publicity.

"WANT" ADVERTISEMENTS

One cent per word per insertion; no advertisement less than twenty-five cents; three insertions for the price of two times. Special rates for standing "want" advertisements by the month. Always send cash (unused postage stamps will do) for want advertisements, as we cannot afford bookkeeping at these rates.

Let Electricity Put the Spark of Merriment in Your Merry Christmas.

Nothing adds so much to Christmas Cheer as an abundance of Light, inside and outside the home. In youthful eyes and those dimmed with age there is nothing quite so cheery as a glittering Christmas Tree, ablaze with colored lights with all the mysterious presents for all the family nestling under its fragrant boughs.

And Electricity helps you to carry your Christmas Cheer outside as well as in. A good strong light at the entrance, clear or in color, affords a friendly beacon to welcome your guests and cheerily greet the passerby.

A Christmas Tree on your lawn with its colored lights or an illuminated hedge row makes your home a veritable Christmas Card radiating the merry spirit of Christmas.

Colored Incandescent Lamps

You can get incandescent lamps in all colors, giving you a flood of Christmas color inside and out and giving a festive look to your house and grounds at an insignificant cost.

THIS WEEK'S TID-BIT

RAISIN POLENTA

1 cup cornmeal
3 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon fat
1 small chopped green pepper
1/2 pound chopped round steak
1/2 cup puffed raisins
2 cups tomato sauce

Add cornmeal slowly to boiling water, stirring constantly to prevent lumping. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt and cook 10 minutes. Melt fat in small frying pan, add chopped pepper and simmer a few minutes with pan covered. Remove cover and add chopped meat and 1/2 teaspoon salt; cook, stirring constantly, until red color of meat has disappeared. Heat food chopper in boiling water and put raisins through, using medium cutter. Add raisins and tomato sauce to meat mixture. In a greased baking dish put half of the cooked cornmeal. Then pour in the meat and tomato, and put the rest of the cornmeal on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.), 30 to 40 minutes.

An excellent, inexpensive "meat extender" dish.

BILLY B. VAN

His Own Account of What He Did and How He Did It

"There is romance connected with any successful business. There must be for a man to enjoy it," Billy B. Van, stage comedian and soap producer, told several hundred New England business men at the manufacturers' group meeting in connection with the New England Conference. Then he told the story of the "merchandising marvel" which has made him famous as a manufacturer as well as an actor, and the tale was not only one of victory over impending disaster but also an illustration of industrial success in an already overcrowded field through pluck, initiative, and system.

Van, originally William Webster Van de Grift, was a struggling young actor twenty-five years ago when he was stricken with illness. In New Hampshire he bought a shack by Lake Sunapee, and sought recuperation. The scent of the pine trees worked miracles. Then the need for money and a desire to disseminate the pine trees' beneficent odor combined caused Van to seek for years a formula to produce a pine-scented soap.

He told the Conference delegates today how he discovered a way of solidifying pine-oil into soap cakes. That gave him his entry into the industrial field. By the end of his first year of business he had sold a million cakes and his product was on the shelves of over ten thousand stores.

"I put the thing over practically without capital," Van said to the Conference delegates. He has added to his industrial line, and his products now number twelve, from soap to balsam pillows.

Maybe this dainty little bisque flapper will come to dwell in your home. She is ornamental enough to win welcome in any boudoir and on any dressing table. Her "over-stuffed" chair looks massive. It really measures only about five inches. Santa will distribute over so many of these pin cushions this Christmas.
